

APPEJAY & MIT TO HOST DESIGN WORKSHOP

The Apeejay Stya University has joined hands with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology-Media Lab to host the design innovation workshop from March 26 to March 30, 2012, in New Delhi at Apeejay School, Sheikh Sarai.

The workshop aims to engage and inspire students across all disciplines right from pre-primary to tertiary level in inventing the future and motivating design driven innovation in our Education system. The workshop will provide a training platform to students on principals of design and techniques for innovation and empower them to build their ideas in a short time frame. It offers participants and attendees a flavour of how the Media Lab promotes innovation and invents the future.

The five-day long workshop, will comprise brain storming sessions, conference, talks, tutorials and exhibition that will be open to visitors from academia, industry leaders and the media. The five Tracks (Themes) of the Workshop include: Technologies for creativity and learning, mobility, energy and housing innovations, imaging on steroids, living mobile and design for sustainability.
